ADDRESS;--: ICE HOUSE ROAD,

W. STUART HARRISON, A.M.I.C.E.,

Manager,

Let us take a trip in a steamer of medium size, 600 tons or thereabouts, probably now engaged in transporting troops to Korea, but to-night she is on her daily iun to Shikoku. A prolonged hooting tells that in half an hour she will be off, and the busy little "toya," or steamer agent, through whom-for nothing can be done directly in Japan—we have taken our tickets. comes round to collect our luggage in a small hand-truck and to assure us that it is time to start. Our lodging, at what used to be called the Foreign Concession in Osaka in passport days, is close to the wharf, so we may dispense with "rickshaws" and walk down past several steamers, each with a huge lantern hung at its side announcing its destination in big black characters painted on the oiled paper. Our boat is just getting up steam, and we must follow the "toya" across a rickety landing-stage and clamber in at a dark hole in the side of the ship whence issues a scent in which the driedfish cargoes of many past years are commemorated and the presence of much edible seaweed and a large concourse of third-class passengers is unmistakably announced. We pass these latter on our way to the better accommodation provided for us. On either side of a narrow passage are three broad shelves spread with coarse matting, on which, dimly visible in the feeble light of a small oil lamp, squat or lie rows of blue-clad forms, some few composed to sleep, but most of them men and women alike, smoking to while away the time and comfort their hearts, so that the air is somewhat thick, and we turn with relief into the fishy passage and hurry past the engines into our first-class cabin,

This is a room about eight feet square, carpeted with ordinary "tatami," the beautifully woven and padded straw mats of Japan. The red velvet cushioned seat that runs along under the three portholes would appear to be for purposes of luggage, for our fellow-passengers have already deposited theirs upon it. We must remove our shoes before entering, and then the "toya" leads us to the corner reserved for us, and, placing our luggage beside us as we sink. on to our heels, he departs with many bows, and wishes that we may have a calm passage. Then appears the cabin-boy, resplendent in black coat and fairly white shirt front and collar, politely bowing his head to the floor, to ask if we will have "futon"—ie., the wadded quilts which form a Japanese bed. He soon! brings a couple, and spreads them side by side, a little round bolster stuffed with bran at the head of each. Then, undoing our rugs, he begs us to spread ourselves with "honourable slowness" and rest, for boat will soon be starting, and the night will surely be calm.

But first let us take a look at our fellowpassengers. A stout old gentleman in rustling silks, probably an Osaka merchant, is meditatively smoking over the charcoal brazier in the middle of the cabin. Two men in faultless foreign attire are likewise smoking and discussing education; propably they are two scholastic dignitaries of the provincial town for which we are bound. In the corner is a lady clad in soft, grey silks, with her hair elaborately arranged into large smooth black bows, and her neck poised on the velvet-covered stand, five inches high, which serves her as a pillow without interfering with her coiffure. Her eyes are closed, and she is passively awaiting the terrors of the tossing deep. Beside her an old lady, her shiny head, guiltless of a single hair, is calmly smoking a long pipe; and two priests with shaven crowns and black and yellow robes make up the party. There is a great trampling overhead. The mails have just arrive I, and are being stowed in a small cupboard on deck. Then the ropes are loosed, and with a long-drawn trumpeting, repeated every few minutes, our boat is fairly off, feeling her way in the darkness down the crowded river. Our boy reappears, and producing a round wooden tray with many tiny bowls, he puts a handful of green tea into a minute teapot. Then, taking the steaming kettle off the brazier, he pours some of its contents into a china cooler and thence into the teapot, and then runs the teapor round the bowls, depositing a teaspoonful or su of strawcoloured liquid in each, warm and clear, with a saupean of tea-leaves at the bottom. These, with a bowl of tiny, squashy red-bean takes, he hands round to each of us, begging is to "honourably lift" it (to our lips). Our friends now compose themselves for the night, while the boy discreetly removes his shirt-front and collar, hanging them up on a peg on the door in readiness for the next port, and, begging us all to honourably rest, he retires. The air of the cabin is somewhat soporific. and, despite our hard couches, we fall into light slumbers, broken, however, in a couple of hours WIRE, by renewed trumpetings and much noise on deck as we come up alongside the landing. stage at Hiogo. Then for an hour is heard the weird rhythmic song with which the coolies lighten their toil as innumerable rice bales are passed from hand to hand. The door opens, and another passenger appears and somehow manages to insert himself among the recumbent forms. A fresh bellow from the funnel, and we are off again. It soon becomes apparent that fresh air is a commodity somewhat scantily supplied on our little steamer, and towards morning we have evident tokens that we are in the agitated neighbourhood of the great Naruto whirlpool, so that altogether it is a relief to see daylight through the port-holes and to discover that our fellow-passengers are stirring. We go up on deck and take a look round.

Many of the passengers are on deck. Several are performing their morning ablutions, turn by turn, in a small tin basin, supplied from a bucket drawn up over the side. This is followed by the assiduous use of a long-handled brush as they stroll up and down the deck, not being apparently indispensable to man gazing at the eastern sky, and as the first my of the rising sun gilds the surface of the

A COASTING STEAMER IN JAPAN. | ing. By and by the boy approaches and begs us to take some breakfast; and we watch the lacquered trays, each with red and black bowls of fish, soup, and rice, with greens and dried radisli of a doubtful odour, go below without feeling any desire to partake. Now we are at the river's mouth, and must wait for the quarantine officer to come on board, escorted by two policemen in neat white-faced uniforms and round caps, somewhat formidable-seeming swords clanking at their sides. First they inspect and count the crew, who are drawn up in line, a somewhat ragged regiment, in grimy coats and trousers, the officers distinguished by gold lace on their caps and sleeves. Then comes the inspection of the passengers, third and second class, and lastly ourselves, the doctor politely inquiring if our honourable health is good. This ceremony being satisfactorily concluded, he drops back into his boat with his escort, and we resume our passage up the river, past low sandbanks and rows of crooked pine trees and small wooden houses where housewives are opening wooden shutters and drawing back paper windows to let in the fresh morning air. Now the landing-stage is in sight; rows of rickshaws expectant of fares are drawn up along the river bank, and two little red mail carts with two runners apiece in neat blue uniform and large round hats. On the stage are rickshaw men in tight blue leggings and basket hats, several "toya" on / the look out for passengers and luggage, a few early schoolboys, a little army of newspaper ie., to honourably meet their friends, and many and various idlers. As we come up alongside, the dozen or so of mail bags are tossed over, and passed from hand to hand till they reach the mail carts, which start off at top speed, with a warning jingle of loose iron rings, towards the post-office. Next the newspaper packages are handed over, and the agents of the four rival papers race off with much fun and shouting. Then the policeman goes on board to see that all is well, and at length the congested crowds of passengers waiting in the narrow passage are allowed to disgorge themselves out of the aforementioned hole in the steamer's side. This is a somewhat lengthy process, as most of the third-class passengers have large "kori," known in England as "pilgrim baskets," slung on their backs and tied round their necks with a coarse blue clothand their hands full of many-coloured bundles, for in Japan hand luggage is tied up in handkerchiefs, except when the more moneyed can afford to buy a brilliant carpet-bag. The women, too, have mostly babies tied on their backs, so the passage through the three-foot hole is not easy; but at last it is safely accomplished, and we stand on the b nk, waiting till our rickshaw men have disentangled our heavy luggage from a pile of "koris" and white pigskin boxes and bundles tied up in matting. The boy brings our rugs and receives a silver coin carefully wrapped up in a sheet of white napen for it is not polite to hive tipe in Inpan "naked," ie. without a covering. We slip it into his hand, murmuring "Cokuro sama," i.e. "honourable prouble" (you have taken on our account), and he bows low and begaus to again honourably ride in his cabin, and we get into our rickshaws and are off.-Ex. There is a story of a Monumental Artist who, being bidden to carve on a tombstone the well-

The life history of a clever woman and a good wife, who has certainly been worth many a crown to her husband, comes from a Welsh mining town. THE Government have received a serious warning of the danger of the importation of Chinese labour into South Africa from Sir Patrick Manson, the medical adviser to the Colonial Office. It is understood that not only does Sir Patrick Manson and the other medical advisers give this warning on account of the plague, but also from a fear of yellow fever. Yellow fever is at present confined to the West Indies and Central America, and it is feared that through the increased facilities of transit the germs of disease might reach the Asiatics in the Transvaal, and thus with the plague develop terrible complications. Sir Patrick Manson, who is a well-known bacteriological expert, has, it is understood, expressed himself as opposed in every way to the introduction of the yellow race in South Africa. The warning attacks. is engaging the setious attention of the Goveroment, and it is anticipated that there will shortly be an important announcement made.

THE HEALTH OF THE COLONY.

Of five fatal cases of plague which were notified as having occurred in the Colony last week two were imported. The only other communicable disease brought to the notice of the Sanitary department was small-pox, of which there were five cases. Since noon of yesterday three fatal cases of plague have been notified. Bodies were found dumped near the Mau Lum garden, at Yaumati, and close to the Canton wharf, while the third case is reported from Kowloon Inland Lot No. 521.

Defendant then grew very violent and called the complainant bad names, using unwholesome epithets. Complainant told her to be quiet, when she rushed into the passage saying she would call a policeman. She kept on behaving in this manner and disturbing everybody until nearly 1 a.m. when she was removed to the station. THE WAR.

ADMIRAL SIR CYPRIAN BRIDGE GIVES HIS VIEWS.

LESSONS ON THE WAR.

Admiral Sir Cyprian Bridge, who has just relinquished the post of Commander-in-Chief of the China station in favour of Admiral Sir G. Noel, when asked for his views on the naval aspect of the war, said the Japanese successes have not surprised the British naval officers on the China station, who since the alliance have been very intimate with the lapanese officers.

"The chief lesson of the war so far is the success of the destroyers. The fact that eighteen Japanese destroyers-the , whole force of the nation in this type of vesselwere all afloat simultaneously at Port Arthur is wonderful. The British, as a rule, have 10 per cent, undergoing repair.

"Still more important is the fact that the Chemulpho action was fought principally at a range of 7,400 yards, the closest range being 4,500 yards. This seems to prove the value of heavy guns in modern warfare and to minimise the efficacy of secondary batteries.

" From the reports of attachés, corroborated by one of the Russian captains, it appears that fully 20 percent, of the shots took effect as against 3 per cent, at the battle of Santi ago. This is likewise instructive, besides being a very creditable performance."

The Admiral anticipates the surrender or destruction of the Russian fleet at Port Arthur as the result of the land and sea

FIGHTING STRENGTH OF THE BAUTIC : QUADRON.

The order for the Russian Baltic Fleet to proceed to the Far East is attracting attention chiefly because no one seems to know what that fleet consists of. Some account of its actual composition may therefore be of interest.

The Baltic vessels proper consist of three coast defence battleships-Apracsin, Oushakoff and Senyasin. The first carries three to-in., the others four 9-in, guns. All have also four 6-m, quick firing guns. They are able to do about 15 knots at a pinch. Being of law freeboard, they are bad sea boats, and they carry so little coal that they could only get out by being accompanied by a whole fleet of colliers.

The other vessels are the third class cruisers Svietlans and norniloff and the recently reconstructed Pamiat Azova. Both the former are unprotected vessels; both are old. But they might be a more serious factor, for they torpedo. would carry with them the gunners of the Braction Landion " wing some time ago, did marvellously good shooting.

a weak edition of our Nile and Trafalgar, with four 12-in, and eight 6-in, guns. She used to carry very antique 6 inch pieces, but these may have been replaced.

PICKING UP WARSHIPS.

The squadron would also pick up the new battleship Ostinbia, the old armoured cruiser Nakhiwoff, and the new protected cruiser Aurora, a sister to the Fallada, also a dozen destroyers that are about in the Mediterranean or Indian Ocean. From the Baltic at least a dozen more torpedo cruisers could be drawnpossibly a score or two-but it would take them months to get out.

Apparently five or six ships, and nine or ten destroyers from the Baltic division, are going out now. For what it is worth, therefore, this and the half-way ships would make a fleet of the second rate, the third-rate and the fourthrate; and two reconstructed old-belted cruisers, one second class cruiser, two third-class cruisers, and about twenty destroyers would be added to the list.

They might be active in Far Eastern waters in May or the end of April, and they would burn at least 60,000 tons of coal en route.

Against the Japanese fleet, as it is to-day, they would not count for very much, but against that fleet as it may be three months hence they might be a decisive factor.

The problem is how are they to get out The Osliabia, Pallada, Nathimoff and Pamiat Azova have water-tube boilers of the Belleville type. Bellevilles have recently exhibited francs. The damage to the forts is estimated by. She refused, and then complainant charged so these four may be depended upon killed. Each of our dead cost the Prussians language, and gave her in charge. That was drical boilers—and old ones at that. It is a about 9 p.m. Desendant was partly indressed, gave question whether or not they could reach their destination in a steaming condition.

Russians are drawing some satisfaction from the battle of Chemuspo, because Captain Rudrey blew up the Varyag when all hope was lost. As p inted out, the blowing up to prerefused to dress. Finally she was knoved to vent capture by the Japanese is a matter of supreme moral importance to the Russian fleet. which will never despair so long as things of this sort are done." A somewhat similar sentiment prevails in the Japanese navy, but there it is the intention rather than aught else. Japan has never had occasion to put the doctrine into practice, whereas Captain Rudrey of the Varyag and the policeman called another officer and had Captain Bieliaeff of the Koriets have but added their names to an historical list that is limited by the famous Saken, who, in 1788, im himself in like manner. SIDELIGHTS.

Following is an article from a Russian correspondent to a home paper, who, writing from St. Petersburg, on 21st ult., says :---

Queer stories are dribbling out of Port Atthur. Admiral Alexeieff's nephew, who returned here with Mme. Starck, is responsible for the latest

He declares that the telegram sent to notify; any case is baseless. the Viceroy of the rupture of diplomatic relations by Japan did not reach Port Arthur till the day after the torpedo attack, and that the whole garrison, from the Viceroy downwards, were "jumping mad" over the delay, to which they a tribute the utter state of unpreparedness for an attack in which the enemy's torpedo boats found the squadron.

FROM WANT OF WARNING.

It is beyond dispute that the warships were at anchor, and had not a sufficient pressure of steam to get any way on them. Naval men agree that had the Viceroy been warned in time—as the Foreign Office claims to have Pepareg. done—the warships would scarcely have been exposed in such careless fashion to a chance

The Admiral's nephew goes further, and says that, in drawing up his report to the Emperor, Alexeieff expressed himself in very strong terms about the negligence of the Foreign Office, and join this fleet, and one 8,000-ton battleship, the added a few unpleasant words about the condi-Sissoi Volky, with four 12-in. and six 6-in. | tion of the warships sent out to him, declaring guns. tects and engineers in St. Petersburg. A CONFIRM TION OF CARELESSNESS.

Needless to say, these criticisms did not appear in the Viceroy's dispatch as published

Since Admiral Makaroff's arrival at Port Arthur, it is an open secret that he wired confirming the tenor of the Viceroy's remarks about the structural weakne s and general deficiencies of his warships.

These asseverated criticisms have alarmed the Tzar, and prompted him to make a personal investigation of the men-of-war now building on the Neva.

THE MUSCOVITE BERESFORD.

Disobedience of orders, unless justified by signal successes over the enemy, is liable to lead to unpleasant results in the Russian Navy. The captain of the fast cruiser Novik has experienced the truth of this by being summoned before a court-martial for pursuing the Japanese warships outside Port Arthur despite orders from Admiral Starck to return.

To make matters worse for this Muscovite Beresford, his ship was struck and damaged while chasing the Japs. So a court-martial-has fallen to his lot instead of the much coveted Cross of St. George.

In connection with a Reuter telegram appearing in another column, the following list of staff officers who died with the late Vice-Admiral Makaroff, the Russian Commander-in-chief of the Pacific Squadron, on the ill-fated battleship Petropauliusk on the 13th instant, will not be devoid of interest.

HONGKONG GENERAL CHAM-BER OF COMMERCE.

ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual general meeting of the members of the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce was held at the Chamber Room, City Hall, at 3.30 p.m., to-day for the purpose of receiving the Committee's reports and accounts for the year ended 31st December last, electing the Committee for the ensuing year and transacting general business.

The annual report was printed in our issue last evening.

There were present Mr. E. A. Hewett, (chairman), Mr. D. R. Law, (vice-chairman), Messrs. A. Haupt, N. A. Siebs, J. R. M. Smith, H. E. Tomkins, R. C. Wilcex, A. G. Wood, (committee), A. R. Lowe (secretary), G. C. Moxon, H. P. White, D. E. Brown, Andrew Forbes, T. Cechrane, W. B. Dixon, G. W. F. Playfair, J. R. Michael, E. S. Whealler, W. D. Graham, G. Currie, C. H. Thomason, C. A. Tomes, W. T. Harrison, T. Hodsumi, A. S. Mihara, -W. Danby, H. Wicken, J. J. Leiria, W. S Harrison, H. Skott, G. de Champeaux and others.

On the proposition of the chairman, seconded by the vice-chairman, the minutes of the last and of the special meeting, held on the 12th representative for the Chamber on the Legislative Council, were passed. The notice convening the meeting having The Chairman said:-Gentlemen,-The renort and accounts of the Chamber for last year have been in your hands for some days and we will, therefore with your permission, take them as read. I will offer a few remarks on the more important questions which have engaged the attention of your Committee during 1903, and will then ask those members who may wish to do so to address the meeting: For sake of convenience, I will take the various matters dealt with in the report in due order The question of the Brussels sugar convention has recently engaged the earnest attention of the Committee. In order that full protection under this convention be secured for our important local sugar !industries, certain suggestions have been made to the Government here with a view to the possibilities of the future rather than to the actual needs of the present. At our last annual meeting we had to express regret that the Hongkong Government declined to accede to our request that all those employed as pilots in the waters of the Colony should be licensed. As you are aware the Chamber has again urged this, and a bill has recently been before the Legislative Council dealing with this important question. The ordinance appears to fully meet the requirements of the case and we trust it will not be long before the pilots service is placed on a satisfactory footing. In August last, His Excellency the British Minister to China while on his return to Peking, was good enough to agree to meet the Committee of the Chamber, and in the report will be found the address presented to him which dealt with a number of important questions Sir Ernest Satow fully discussed these various matters and expressed his desire to do all possible to further the interest of our trade with China and his readiness to give full consideration to such representations as the Chamber might make to him. Last summer the Viceroy of Canton, being anxious to increase the revenue of the Province, endeavoured to revive the illegal taxation on foreign opium attempted the previous year by his predecessor. The excuse for this impost being one very generally put forward by the native officials when additional funds are required viz :- the payment of the War indemnity. A telegram was at once despatched H. B. M. Chargé d'Affaires at Peking, protesting against this proposed violation of treaty and, thanks to the prompt action of Mr. Townley and the British Consul General at Canton, the tax has been "suspended," but it is very evident that it will be necessary for the Chamber to continue to keep a careful watch upon our tradal telations with China in order to prevent the officials from levying illegal taxes when pressed for funds. (Applause). As mentioned at our last annual meeting, the question of the compulsory adoption of an official code vocabulary drawn up by the Telegraph Companies has been again before us, and a telegram was therefore sent to the London Chamber of Commerce protesting on behalf of this Colony against this proposal. The objections raised have been so universal among business communities that it is to be hoped this vexed question has been finally disposed of. With regard to the currency question, since our last meeting the decision of the Secretary of State for the Colonies has been given, which is to the effect that, "It was out of the question to entertain the idea of adopting a gold standard for Hongkong while Clina retained her silver standard." As a first step therefore towards a reform of the currency in Ghina a joint memorial from the Chambers of Commerce of Ti-msin, Shanghai and Hongkong has been forwarded to the Diplomatic Body at Peking urging that no further time be lost in providing a uniform currency for China, and the placing of the provincial mints under the control of the Central Government, but it'is with regret that we find up to the present nothing further has been done in this direction. From time to time attention has been directed to the Crown Agent system, and some correspondence has passed on this subject between this Chamber and that of Ceylon. In order to more clearly form an opinion on the matter a series of questions was drawn up and presented by our representative at the Legislative Council. While the Committee are not prepared to say that it would not be possible to effect improvements in the working of the system, they are of opinion that it is decidedly to the advantage of the Colony that the Crown Agent system should be continued. During the year under review several questions relating to the shipping interests of the Colony have engaged our

After concal inspection of vessels is an old one, having fair trial, the Committee are unanimously of opinion that the time has now arrived when the posts of Health Officer of the Port and his assistants should be held by officials devoting of privale practice; to fact, that the system many British Ports where the number of entrances and clearances is far smaller than in A. Marty, M. Stewart, O. I. Ellis, E. Ormiston, Hongkong, which now ranks as one of the largest shipping ports in the world. The Committee intend to again a idress the Government on this subject, and trust that on further consideration the reasonableness of their request will be admitted. They feel consinced that in this matter they can rely on the support of all those members of the Chamber who are direct annual meeting, held on the 19 ll May, 1903, ly interested in shipping. (Applause). We are glad to be able to record that the August, 1903, with regard to the election of a Government has, after considerable correspondence, agreed to effect certain improvements in the signalling of storm warnings, and trust that the practical experience which will be obtained during the approaching typhoon season may show that the change effected will result to all that has been hoped for it. One other point affecting the shipping requires to be dealt with. I refer to the Imbeche Immigrants Ordinance. This will as originally put before the Legislative Council was of such a nature as to give rise to the greatest uneasiness on the pa t of those whose business it is to protect interests of ship. owners trading with the Colony. A protest against this Ordinance was unanimously signed by the shipping companies here represented, and while the Bill was not abandoned, as we had hoped might be the case, still very important modifications were obtained in committee, and we can only regret that the efforts of our representative in this direction were not more successful. I consider it necessary to specially direct attention to this Bill as the whole prosperity of flouguous so largely depends upon the facilities and encouragements given to shipping to visit the port. I fear that this fact is sometimes lost sight of, and that from time to time attempts at fegislation are suggested, and not infrequently carried out, calculated to impose undue restrictions and expenditure on the shipping, which in the aggregate from such a tax, either by loss of time or by actual expenditure, as to tend to discourage shipping from visiting the Colony. It must be remembered that the position of Hongkong as a distributing centre is not impregnable. This is a point which cannot be too strongly arged. Turning to questions of a wider interest which still closely concern the welfare of our Colony, I would refer to the opening of Kongmoon as a treaty port, and the establishment of a number of ports of call on the West River to the benefit of the large and right that acknowledgment should be made of the manner in which the officials of the Imperial Maritime Customs have endeavoured to prevent difficulties, arising in connection with the work of opening this port, and also of the also include the sister city of Kwai-shin. The question of piracy on the West River continues to be one requiring constant attention, though I am glad to be able to add that during the past year complaints of this nature have not been so frequent as in the past. During the list few weeks, however, there have been some cases of piracy, and it is evident that the local seriously deal with this evil. The only means elapsed since the question of the removal of the barriers in the Canton River was dealt with officially by this Chamber, we understood privately that matters were progressing favourably, and that before long the barriers would be removed. We regret to find that in this, as in other matters of hope for improvement, no advance has been made by the local Chinese officials. While most scrupulously exacting due observance of the terms of the Treaties limiting our relations with China, the native officials consistently evade their own obliga-

After giving the new scheme a the terms of these Treaties. We understand with the Government of Hongkong has been their entire time to the work, to the exclusion to the fiscal policy of the Empire has naturally | farewell, particularly in view of his health having should be here adopted which now obtains in while the time has not yet arrived to deal his onerous duties. I believe I am right in markets. I need only cite as an example one section of our business v.z.: Shipping. It is obvious that if we are to hold our position against foreign competitors equal facilities should not be granted them with our shipping in British ports unless we in turn receive in their ports the same favourable treatment accorded to their own shipping. (Applause). This in the majority of cases is denied to us. The whole question of fiscal reform is as yet very much in the clouds, but nevertheless very nearly concerns the Colony, and the Committee will therefore continue to follow closely the movement at home, and should it ultimately be decided to seriously deal with the whole question no doubt full opportunity will be offered us to give our views on any matter which is cal culated to effect the prosperity of Hongkong. It must of course always be borne in mind that Hongkong, while a British Crown Colony, is chiefly a port of call for shipping. Its local productions are practically nil and its manufactures limited. An enormous volume of trade, a large percentage of which is non-British, centres here for distribution to China, the Philippines and other non-British territories, and consequently we must strain every nerve to attract this foreign trade to our port, and we cannot in our own local interests therefore regard this question of fiscal reform from the strictly Imperial point of view, which may be possible or desirable in other outlying portions of our Empire. I have reserved to the last what I think you will agree is to Hongkong the most important question as far as this Colony is concerned that has arisen during the past few years, although it has not as yet been formally dealt with by this Chamber. I refer to the proposed Canton-Kowloon Railway. (Applause). Throughout the whole of China we see new railways being projected and in some cases actually completed, mainly I regret to say by the enterprise of those other than British. The race is to the swift, and we cannot grudge the well earned success of our commercial rivals, who, under other flags, press forward where our British investors apparently fear to tread. The British investor, I am informed on high authority, does not care to put his money into railways in increasing native passenger fraffic. It is but China, and in view of the aid which other Governments render their nationals while our Foreign Office refuses to give us equal suppo t, it is not perhaps surprising that British concessions for railways in China languish, while we. see foreign capital freely spent in developing able assistance rendered by Mr. Fox, H.B.M.'s foreign concessions. The Under-Secretary of Consul (Applause). While on the question of State for Foreign Affairs, speaking on behall new treaties, I would also mention that the of the Foreign Office, is reported at a recent Committee of the Chamber has addressed the | gathering in London to have made a statement British Minister at Peking with regard to to the following effect :-- "We are alive to the the advantage which would accrue to the importance of railway development in civilising Colony through the opening of Wai-chow a country and in promoting its commercial deto foreign trade. The time has now arrived however when an exception should be made to this policy. As I have already stated, the prosperity of this Colony depends upon its maintaining its position as a distributing centre for the trade Chinese officials have never attempted to of South China. This being the case, it is imperative that the first railway line connecting of finally disposing of this question is to break | Canton with the sea should be the Cantonup the piratical villages, the positions of which | Kowloon Railway. This Colony should be allowed to guarantee for a term of years the interest on the capital required for the section of the line across the New Territory, or, if necessary, should construct and own the line, while the Home Government should, for once, in the interests of British trade in China, break through its traditions and guarantee the interest on the cost of that section outside the Colony. I feel confident that all those members of the Chamber who have had difficult to say, but it is alleged that the Gerdealings with Mr. Scott will readily endorse what I say. (Loud applause). While it is the object of the Chamber of Commerce to deal with all questions relating to our trade as they arise and so far as may be provided for future contingencies, it is well occa sionally to give a glance backward, and to recall those who have worked in the past and by whose labours we now benefit. During the past year a very notable figure has disappeared from the scene, and while it perhaps somewhat invidious to make special ed stood by in amazement at their own folly. reference to one when so many did good work, still the unique position he occupied must be my excuse for mentioning the name of Admiral of the Fleet, Sir menry Keppel. Admiral Keppel, as we all know, specially distinguished himself in the earlier days of the Colony by his brilliant services under fire, and also agains the piratical craft, which then swarmed in these waters, while later he was very closely connect ed with the history of Hongkong. He has now passed to his rest, full of years and honour, leaving behind him a reputation which all must regard as a high example of good service, fearlessly rendered in the interests of the Empire. We have recently had brought before us, in a forcible manner, the advantage which lies with those who hold the command of the sea and it is good on occasion to recall the debt we owe to His Majesty's senior service and to remember that their presence here means security to our trade in these far distant waters and ensures the safety of all those who dwell under the shadow of our wide-flung flag, (Applause). With these remarks, gentlemen, beg to propose the passing of the report and

Mr. Whealler, in seconding, referred to the question of explosives on board steamers, the medical officers of the port, the currency proposals, and the vital importance of steps being taken in connection with the Kowloon-Canton

Mr. Michael dealt with the currency question, observing that he hoped they would soon "arrive in sight of some settlement of this great hindrance to the development of legitimate trade." In alluding to the railway, he said it was high time it was completed, and trusted the Chamber would use its influence with the Government to induce them to assist with that section of the line which had to pass through British territory.

The Chairman assured the meeting that, as it was the wish of the members, that the Chainber should deal with the question of the line, the Committee would take the matter in hand, and would also continue taking action regarding the currency question.

NEW MEMBERS.

The names of those admitted to membership since the last meeting were confirmed, with the addition of Messrs. D. Macdonald & Co.'s name. COMMITTEE.

The committee was re elected, with the exception of the Hon. C. W. Dickson, who is shortly leaving the colony. Mr. J. Gresson was appointed to the vacancy.

The proceedings then terminated. A full report of the proceedings will appear in our issue to-morrow.

SHUCKING TRAGEDY

AT SINGAPORE.

A shocking tragdy occurred in the early hours of this morning, reports the Straits Times of 20th inst, when a German named Warzburgh, the second engineer on board the steamship Kudul, was shot dead in the middle of Hylam Street, Singapore, and Joseph Somers, the Musical Director of the Stanley Opera Company, was arrested on the grave charge of having caused his death. Only the most meagre particulars have as yet been allowed to transpire, but the main tacts are quite clear. Last evening a party of Germans came into collision with a number of men believed to be Americans, or Australians, with whom were one or two Englishmen. The old subject of pride in nationality is said to have been the cause of the quartel. In any event high words passed between the rivals but at this stage nothing followed.

Shortly after midnight the belligerents met again in Malay Street, whither they had apparently adjourned. The Germans, it is said, had sticks in their hands and began to threaten the American group. Whether they were the worse for liquor or not has not yet been explained, but the fact remains that the first quarret was renewed and blows were imminent when the Americans made a bee-line for a house in Hylam Street, which has any thing but a savoury reputation.

The Germans followed them hot foot, and succeeded in catching up with the others just as the latter reached the stairs leading to the house in question. Such an uproar was created that the proprietress of the house slammed the door at the top of the staircase in the faces of the brawlers. There was nothing for it now but to return the same way as they came, and the Anglo-Saxon contingent started to file down stairs.

Meanwhile the Germans were making matters lively at the foot of the staircase, Perfect pandemonium prevailed, both sides shouting challenges to each other and defying all-comers. At least such is the story that has come to the ears of the police. The denizens of Malay Street, Hylam Street and all round that neighbourhood are not easily frightened or even disturbed by a passing fight. They are habituated to the Undersigned. time Customs to deal with it. The great in- section of this community, and we hope, sof men and the ways of roisterers. have come between them, and the Europeans and Antipodeans had the street to themselves. What exactly followed when the Germans retreated in the direction of the street it is;

man, Warzburgh, raised his stick and aimed a

On the impulse of the moment it is alteged; that Somers pulled out a revolver which he the 28.h April, 1904, at 2.30 P.M., at their Sales was carrying in his pocket at the time and pointed it in the direction of the crowd of Germans. It is said that he had no intention of pulling the trigger, that he merely wished to cow the threatening Germans. But while pointed at Warzburgh the tagger was snapped and the unfortunate man was shot on the right side of the body.

Warzburgh cried out that he was killed and the others terror-stricken at what had happen-They laid Warzburgh on the ground, where he expired within twenty minutes.

Realising the terrible position in which they stood, the others seem to have made an effort to escape justice. But the police had been called and Assistant Superintendent Whitehead and Sergeant Taylor were quickly on the scene. Warzburgh was dead and there was no trace of his assailants. However after making inquiries i a clue was found and the call was given to; earch all the hotels with the object of bringing every one of the suspected persons under arrest.

The Waverly, Criterion and Adelphi Hotels were searched and every individual who was connected with the two gangs was captured and taken to the Central Police Station where they were placed under lock and key, pending further investigations.

HONGKONG METEOROLOGICAL

, A NEW CODE.

We have received from the Hongkong Observatory a new code of meteorological signals which comes into force at Hongkong on New Year's Day. They are the same as those at present in use at Shanghai, and will be hoisted on the mast beside the time-ball at Kowloon Point for the information of masters of vessels leaving the port. They do not necessarily imply that bad weather is expected. The signals are as follows:-

A cone point upwards indicates a typhoon to the North of the Colony.

A cone point upwards and drum below in-16 dicates a typhoon to the North-East of the Colony.

A drum indicates a typhoon to the East of the Colony.

A cone point downwards and drum below indicates a typhoon to the South-East of the Colony.

A cone point downwards indicates a typhoon to the South of the Colony.

A cone point downwards and ball below indicates a typhoon to the South-West of the Colony.

A ball indicates a typhoon to the West of the Colony.

A cone point upwards and ball below indicates a typhoon to the North-West of the Colony.

Red Signals indicate that the centre is believed to be more than 300 miles away from - the Colony.

Black Signals indicate that the centre is believed to be less than 300 miles away from the Colony.

The above signals will, as heretofore, be hoisted only when typhoons exist in such positions or are moving in such directions that into cormation regarding them is considered to be of importance to the Colony or to shipping leaving the harbour.

NIGHT SIGNALS.

Two lanterns hoisted vertically indicate bad weather in the Colony and that the wind is expected to veer.

Two lanterns hoisted horizontally indicate bad weather in the Colony and that the wind is expected to back.

The signals are repeated on the flagstaff of the Godown Company at Kowloon, and also, by day only, at the Harbour Office and on H M's Receiving Ship, LOCAL STORM-WARNINGS.

The Colony itself is warned of approaching typhoons by means of the Typhoon Gun placed at the food of the mast, which is fired whenever a strong gale of wind is expected to blow here.

NOTICE BOARDS.

Notice boards are placed at:--Joint Cable Companies' Office. Ferry Company's Pier, Ice House Street, Blake Pier. Post Office,

WHAT A BOILERMAKER ENDURES.

No human being endures so much in the way of deafening, ear-shattering noise as a works is filled with thunderous sound as of ailments of ladies. Substitutes cure nothing. artillery-firing. Along its huge length fat boilers lie in stocks like giant iron canoes in process of building; while men, whose skins glisten in the light and heat, rush about with pincers holding red-hot rivets, which they thrust through the plates to have their protruding noses flattened by heavy hammers, Over everything the fierce light of the braziers makes weird shadows on the heaving muscles a miner gone, he has since worked as a garof workers.

A hard, wearing life it is and a little thing impairs a boilermaker's efficiency. As Mr. Thomas Houghton, a Birmingham boilermaker, recently said to a newspaper interviewer, even deranged digestion may incapacitate one. Mr. Houghton, some time ago, was compelled to give up his work, but he cured himself by Dr. Williams' pink pills. Mr. Houghton, who lives at 65 Cuthbert-road, Winson Green, Birmingham, England, said;

"I was a victim of wind and indigestion for a long time, and was frequently attacked by spasms, which were so painful that I was afraid to stoop at my work in case they should come

"At home, after meals, I had often to walk about the house to disperse them. There was a pain in my chest which completely took my breath away at times. Of course, it hampered me very much at the works, and I was afraid sixty-eight-and since I lost my eye I have to take my food.

"Then my wife, who had suffered terribly with indigestion, prevailed upon me to get her which caused acute indigestion. I also suffered a bottle of Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale from nervous debility. I had agonising pains people, and after taking them for some time her improvement was so marked that I began into a very weak, low, and depressed state of to take the pills myself, with the result that, health. Indeed, I used to feel at times like a like her, I felt speedy relief. After taking man out of his mind, and but for Dr. Williams about two bottles I was completely cured.

"I can't speak too highly of the merits of fact, to-day I have been carpentering, for ; amusement, which would have been impossible a short time ago."

MAN AND WIFE.

THE STORY OF A HAPPY PAIR.

Mrs. Houghton, wife of the hero of the remark. able story related in this issue under the title Stephens, Mr. & Mrs. "Where Noise is King," had a story to tell no: less remarkable than that of her husband, to his home. My son was at that time taking "About six months ago," she explained to n. Dr. Williams' pink pills for pale people, and he press representative, "I began to be troubled with dyspepsia. I thought little of it at first and went on with my work as usual, thinking it would soon go away. However, I was next question. mistaken, for it developed to a terrible degree. I had a heavy feeling in me chest and severe palpitation of the heart giddiness in my head also became so serious that I was eventually too timid to go out. I was afraid of falling against tramcars or into shop windows, and even on a broad pavement good to this victim of Accident and Misfortune Yates, Mr. & Mrs. C. C. I swayed helplessly from one side to the other.

I had a gnawing and burning sensation in the stomach as if I had eaten fire. Many a time I never touched food for a day; even tea made me ill. At length I began to think that I should have to give up.

"At length I was attracted by an article in a Birmingham paper on the subject of the remarkable cures wrought by Dr. Williams' pink Thomas, Mr. and Mrs. pills for pale people. I persuaded my husband to let me give them a trial, and he obtained two Watson, Mr. and Mrs. bottles. I had become so bad that I had to beat myself in order to get my breath, and it was misery to be about, and still worse to lie in bed. At the end of the second bottle I noticed a distinct improvement. I took five bottles altogether, and I am now in excellent health and can enjoy my food."

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Houghton raised any objection to the proposal that the interview should be given every publicity.

Men as well as women benefit by the new blood and new strength which Dr. Williams' pink pills are able to give. But it is only the genuine pills which have the virtue.

If Mr. and Mrs. Houghton had used an imitation or substitute they would be suffering still. It is the genuine pills bearing Dr. Williams' name (and to be obtained post free for two and ninepence from Dr. Williams. Medicine Company, Holborn-viaduct, London, if readers have any difficulty in purchasing the genuine at shops) which have cured so many cases of aniemia, bile, consumption, fits, gout, indigestion, kidney disease, paralysis, locomotor Boilermaker. While working in a Hanley coal pit some years ago John Henshall lost an eye from a spark at the pick-end The injury set up inflammation, which compelled the doctors to remove the eye. Finding his occupation as dener and at odd work. He is a most respectable and intelligent man, the victim of repeated

Mr. John Henshall Victim of an accident at Hanley.

"I am getting on in years," he said-"nearly done no work in the pits. That is, however, not the only trouble I have had. For two years I was laid up with an attack of liver complaint, in the head, and was subject to feelings of giddiness. I was hardly able to cat, and got pink pills I don't know what would have become of me. "To see if I could get any benefit," said Mr. this medicine. I have a capital appetite now, Henshall, continuing his story, "I, went to and can go about my work with pleasure. In Rhyl, and spent three weeks at one of the convalescent homes there. But I got no better in fact, while I was at Rhyl I thought my end was approaching, and feeling that I should rather die at home, I came back to Stafford. shire. I still suffered on my return, and for a time I became an out patient at the North Staffordshire Infirmary. It was Dr. Williams.

"And how is your health to-day?" was the "Oh, I am much better," replied Mr. Henshall, "I have a better appetite, my norves are stronger, and I seem to have more vigour in me. Considering my age, I am feeling very

Mr. Henshall, asked if he had any objection to his story being published, said: "I have only told you what is true, and there can be no objection to that being published."

The experience of Mr. Henshall is that of many who have suffered from diseases arising from poor blood and shattered nerves anæmia, bile, consumption, eczema, headache, indigestion, kidney diseases, rheumatism, scrofula. Dr. Williams' pink pills have cured these and other diseases in countless cases. Women they especially help in those characteristic troubles which they do not talk about. The pills are not a cure all. They cure by action on the blood and on the nerves, curing fits, paralysis, locomotor ataxy, St. Vitus dance, neuralgia.
